Please note that the information on this form will be sent to the Office of the Police Complaint Commissioner and the Chief Constable of the police department you are complaining about, in care of their Professional Standards Unit, or the police department's Police Board.

Registered Complaints:

Registered Complaints are complaints about the conduct of an officer that caused you concern. If you have a complaint regarding a municipal police officer in British Columbia, you may complete and submit the form below. This will entitle you to various rights under the Police Act, including:

- Participating in a Complaint Resolution process or Mediation;
- Being kept informed of the progress of the investigation;
- Receiving a concluding report;
- Given the opportunity to make submissions on what you feel are appropriate disciplinary or corrective measures;
- If not satisfied with the outcome, the ability to appeal the decision.

A complaint must be made within the 12-month period beginning on the date of the conduct giving rise to the complaint. The Police Complaint Commissioner may extend the time limit for making a complaint if it is determined that there are good reasons for doing so and it is not contrary to the public interest.

A member of the public who does not wish to participate in the formal complaint process may contact a police department directly to report a Question or Concern. Police departments are required to record questions or concerns and advise the OPCC on how they were resolved. The OPCC will review the record to ensure that it was handled appropriately and that a public trust investigation was not necessary.

If you would like more information about the complaint process, visit our website at opcc.bc.ca or call us toll free at 1 (877) 999-8707.

The OPCC does not have jurisdiction over the handling of complaints involving members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP).

Complainants who wish to file a complaint against an RCMP officer will be referred to the Civilian Review and Complaints Commission:

Civilian Review and Complaints Commission for the RCMP National Intake Office
PO Box 1722, Station B Ottawa, ON K1P 0B3
Toll-Free: 1 (800) 665-6878

Service or Policy Complaints:

Complaints about the policies or the services of a police organization are the responsibility of the department's police board. The board must advise the OPCC and the complainant of how the complaint was handled; including what course of action, if any, was taken and must provide a summary of the results of any investigation or study. The Police Complaint Commissioner cannot direct a board to take any particular course of action regarding a Service or Policy complaint, but may make recommendations to the department's Police Board.

If you would like further information about the Police Act complaint process please visit the OPCC website at www.opcc.bc.ca or call 1 (877) 999-8707.

Complaint Resolution

The main goal of Complaint Resolution is to provide complainants and police officers an opportunity to engage in a process where they can share their perspectives and find common ground with the aim of coming to a resolution agreement between both parties.

I would consider participating in a Complaint Resolution process or Mediation for this matter if my complaint is determined to be admissible and appropriate for this process
